

Latin Music Percussion Patterns and Music Notation Compilation of Free Online Resources

Sheet Music:

Percussion Lesson Beginner

In this page there is a review of the basic concepts associated with rhythmic notation. It shows the symbols and the place for the notes when using a drum set. Then it continues with examples of durations and graphic characters with audible examples.

Percussion Lesson Beginner 2

The lesson continues with notation examples for percussion detailing left and right hands and some multiple instrument patterns.

Merengue Sheet Music

In this page, there are several examples of music notation for Merengue, a tropical music rhythm from the Caribbean.

Latin Rhythms

Salsa

Here, we have two song examples of a complete percussion set written in sheet music with a playable button to follow along.

How to read sheet music

How to read music Video

In the first page, we can find a complete tutorial of how to read music notation using pitches and staves, if we would like to deepen in music notation in general. The second link is a video of the basic concepts behind it.

Music Notation Online

Noteflight

This online tool is a music notation editor with playback useful from any device. With the playback feature, it is possible to experiment with all the notation figures and items to check how would it sound. It is a convenient playground to test notation, compose, and even print music.